THE PUREST AND BEST

Remedy Ever Made.--It is compounded from Hops, Malt, Buchu, Mandrake, and Dandelion

The oldest, best, most renowned and valuable medicine in the world; and in addition it contains all the best and most effective curative properties of all other remedies, being the greatest liver regulator, blood purifier, and health restoring agent on earth.

It gives new life and vigor to the aged and infirm. To clergymen, lawyers, literary men, ladies, and all whose sedentary employments cause irregularities of the Blood, Stomach, Bowels, or Kidneys, or who require an appetizer, tonic, and mild stimulant, it is invaluable, being highly curative, tonic and stimulating, without being intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, or what the disease or ailment is, use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable use the bitters at once. It may save your life. Hundreds have been saved by so doing, at a moderate cost. Ask your druggist or physician. Do not suffer yourself or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

If you have lameness in the loins, with frequent pains and aches, numbness of the thigh; scanty, painful and frequent discharge of urine, filled with pus, and which will turn red by standing; a voracious appetite and unquenchable thirst, harsh and dry skin; clammy tongue, often darkly furred; swollen and inflamed gums, dropsical swelling of the limbs; frequent attacks of hiccough, inability to void the urine, and great fatigue in attempting it—you are suffering from some form of Kidney or Urinary Complaint, such as BRIGHT'S DISEASE of the kidneys, stone or inflammation of the bladder, gravel and renal calculi, diabetes, stranguary stricture and retention of the urine, and Hop Bitters is the only remedy that will permanently cure you.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged, drunken nostrum, but the purest and best medicine ever made, and no person or family should be without it.

Don't risk any of the highly lauded stuff with testimonials of great cures, but ask your neighbor, druggist, pastor or physicians what Hop Bitters has and can do for you and test it.

The inhabitants of the Indian Territory are mourning the sudden death of Chief White Shield, who had for many years been looked to as a faithful leader and counsellor honest and true to settle all his people's disputes.

At the Victoria School at St. John, N. B., the young ladies have been obliged to attend recitations in a room, the temperature of which has not averaged this winter over 44° above zero. No wonder that most of the scholars suffer from colds.

Lord Keane, of England, in his will, which was proved a short time ago, set a good, and much commended example by expressly stating that his funeral must not cost more than two hundred and fifty dollars (£50). "My father's," he added, "cost £500, which I consider a shameful waste of money."

The Prince of Wales, at the urgent solicitation of the Princess, is said to be using his influence to modify the cruel sport of pigeon shooting as at present conducted, by the substitution of terra-cotta pigeons for the living birds, and there are hints of social boycotting in case sportsmen persist in the old method.

The subscription for a memorial to the late Charles Darwin, has awakened much interest in Sweden. The English committee has received contributions from more than 1,400 persons in that country, including all sorts of people, "from bishop to seamstress," and varying in amount from from two-pence to five pounds.

A fashionable tailor of Boston declares solemnly that knee-breeches are coming into vogue for evening parties. A number of the tony youths of that city wear them at dinners and small gatherings. The chap who started the movement down there bears the not altogether euphonious nor aristocratic name of Gotch.

At the grand state dinner given by President Arthur to the Supreme Court last week the floral decorations were unique. On the long crystal plateau two floral ships named on their sides in immortelles, "Atlantic" and "Pacific," faced each other, and between them extended a fac simile of the Brooklyn Bridge, two and a half feet long, represented in carnations.

One theatrical sham which has been revealed by a florist is a remodeling of designs received by actors and actresses. The material of a flower ship received in the shape of a harp in the second, of an anchor in the third, or of any other design. And all the time the audience is amazed at the extravagant profusion of flowers.

Some years ago the officers of an American railroad required its engineer to get his plans for iron bridges approved by English experts before beginning the work. Now a famous English engineer, whose work has been criticised, cites the opinion of an American engineer to support his position, saying that the American has built more big bridges himself than there are altogether in Great Britain.

Two Italian laborers who were injured by a premature blast on the Oregon Short Line Railroad, having so far recovered that it was possible to move them, were sent a fortnight ago to Bellevue, I. T., where they could obtain better care and accommodation. They were laid in a wagon and an Italian driver mounted the box. The weather was bitterly cold, but he drove on without flinching and in due time drew up in front of the hotel where he was to deliver his charge. The hotel people came out to receive the injured men and found them both frozen to death, and the driver himself pretty far gone the same way.

A charming and accomplished young lady in London was so badly burnt some months ago by her clothes catching fire that her life was despaired of and a clergyman was sent for to administer spiritual consolation. To him the lady said: "As I know that I am dying, I have a secret I will disclose to you only. I love you with my whole heart." The prompt reply was: "You must not die, but live to be my wife." The lady acted upon the suggestion, recovered, and a week or two ago was married to the object of her affections.

The beauties of the compartment car system were recently exhibited in the case of a young German couple who were traveling near Genoa on their wedding tour. Themselves and an Italian were the sole occupants of a compartment, and when entering a tunnel the Italian presented a pistol and demanded the German's money. The German grappled with his assailant and succeeded in wrenching the pistol from him, but not until he had received two shots in his shoulder. The Italian then resorted to a stiletto, with which he inflicted five cuts on the traveler, one of them a severe head cut. The bride was also cut in the hand in trying to help her husband. Finally the woman's screams caught the attention of the guard who stopped the train and the desperado was secured.

Josh Billings thinks the charity of this world a conundrum, and he gives it up. One cold, snowy afternoon this winter, he saw a thinly clad man trying to sell a couple of lead pencils at the foot of the stairs of an elevated railway station, imploring each passer-by to purchase, as he was starving. Seven passed without buying; "Josh" was the eighth, and he bought them and passed on to the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Soon, having an errand at the Gilsey House, he thought he would try his luck selling pencils on the way. "He took the two he had bought, pulled his coat-collar up and his hat-brim down, and set out in the dark. At Twenty-fourth street he stopped a benevolent-looking pedestrian with: "Please buy my two pencils for ten cents apiece: I am starving; I have had nothing to eat for twenty-four hours"; etc. The man pushed him aside, saying gruffly: "I can buy three for a quarter down the street," and went on. Three others being appealed to, did about the same. At last he slouched into the Gilsey House and tried the dodge on a man at the bar, who tossed him a quarter saying: "Take that, old man, I don't want any pencils." Then "Josh" revealed himself and told the story of his experience as an amateur pencil-seller to the great amusement of the assembled company.

Presently his infant daughter fell sick and died. Shortly afterward his wife fell sick with typhoid fever. Mr. Hayden opened a shoemaking and repairing shop. Trade did not come in, and he rapidly exhausted his supply of money, already depleted by the sickness and funeral expenses of his child, the illness of his wife, and the money put out to start himself in business. Finally he fell sick himself. Three or four days ago, the precarious condition of his family attracted the attention of the Farmington Odd Fellows, and they immediately furnished proper food and a supply of wood, and have resolved to furnish further help and provide a watcher. BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 7, 1883.

The dishonesty of the carpet-baggers was a favorite theme with the Democratic press when the Republicans controlled the Southern States. The defalcations in Tennessee and Alabama suggest the wicked inquiry if with all their faults the carpet-baggers were not fully as honest as the native-born Bourbons.

The recent action of the Senate in amending the Tariff bill so as to place lumber on the free list, has alarmed the lumbermen of Michigan and heavy delegations are beginning to arrive at Washington from the pine sections of that State. They will make an earnest effort to induce Congress to let the duty on lumber remain as recommended by the Committee on Ways and Means.

There was quite a scene in the Assembly at Albany the other day. When the vote was declared upon a party scheme, showing that a given number of members had voted for it, Republicans cried out that the declaration was a fraud. The Speaker attempted to pass to other business, but the Republicans were so determined that verification could not be avoided. It was then discovered that the Clerk had recorded as voting for the bill the names of three Democrats who were not in the hall and who did not vote. It required these three votes to make the number just sufficient to enact a bill. This is a new trick of a Democratic Clerk. "Count through a bill" must be a new term in political legerdemain.

The Senatorial contest in Nebraska appears to have terminated fortunately for the Republicans, and the party papers in that State are accordingly rejoicing. General Manderson, the Senator-elect, is described as a sound Republican, a man of irreproachable character and with the ability to perform the duties of the office creditably. As to his standing on the question which came near splitting the Republican party, the Omaha Republican says: "The railroad question, so far as it affects active politics, may be considered shelved by the election of a man who has never been a favorite of the corporations on the one hand, or the tool of the demagogue on the other, but who has a large ability to discern the right, and an unfaltering readiness to embrace it, at whatever personal cost."

Dr. Augustus C. Hamlin, of Bangor, who has lately been appointed Surgeon-General of Maine, on the Staff of Governor Robie, is one of the most distinguished medical officers in New England. He served in the Army during the entire war. He was entrusted with important commands in the Army of the Potomac, as Medical Director; and in the Army of West Virginia. He was afterwards promoted to one of the highest positions, that of Medical Inspector, in the staff of the regular Army; and served with distinction in the Army of the South during the famous siege of Fort Wagner, and was afterwards assigned to the armies of the Southwest under the command of Major-General Thomas. Dr. Hamlin is a man of high scientific attainments, and is a member of numerous scientific societies, both at home and abroad. The militia of Maine are to be congratulated upon having so eminent officer at the head of their medical staff.—New York Medical Record.

The refusal of the House to suspend the rules in order to bring one of the leading appropriation bills before that body for immediate consideration is regarded as a quite sure indication that no tariff bill can be enacted during the present session. It was the purpose of the Republicans to take up this bill and pass it without consideration in Committee of the Whole. If the rules had been suspended, that bill would have been before the House and could have been disposed of in a few hours. The fact that the Democrats prevented such action and expressed a purpose to have the bill considered at length in Committee of the Whole indicates that they intend to take the time which would otherwise be devoted to the Tariff bill in discussing the items of the appropriation bills. There is no need of wasting time on these appropriation bills, and particularly upon that offered yesterday, as it simply appropriates money to pay civil officers and to meet the current expenses of the Government. It is, also, almost an exact copy of the bill which the same House passed without party division less than a year ago. When a week shall have been spent in considering its provisions, scarcely an item will be changed. Whatever time, therefore, is spent upon such an appropriation bill beyond what is necessary for its speedy enactment is time wasted. Under such circumstances the refusal of the Democrats to dispose of the appropriation bills so as to give all the time to the consideration and enactment of a Tariff bill can but be regarded as the declaration of a purpose to prevent tariff legislation during the present session. The country will be quite sure to note this refusal to permit the majority to revise the tariff.—Boston Journal.

THE WHIG PARTY AND PROTECTION.

[From the Chicago Journal (Rep.)]

Certain Democratic newspapers, that are forever harping upon the true subject of free trade, are trying to strengthen their arguments in favor of that popular heresy by declaring that the old Whig party was ruined and forced to quit business as a political organization because it advocated the doctrine of protection to American industries. This is an assertion not at all warranted by the facts. The old Whig party occupied about the same position on the tariff question that the Republican party of the present time does, and with that motto inscribed conspicuously upon its banner it twice overthrew the old Bourbon free-trade organization—once in 1840 and again in 1848. The fruits of both of those elections were lost to the Whig party by the sudden death of their Presidents, and the recreancy of John Tyler and Millard Fillmore, who allowed the Democrats to lay their eggs and hatch their chickens in the nest that the Whigs had made. The old Whig party never had a fair chance to reduce its theories on the subject of protection to practice, and, consequently, it cannot in truth be said that the American people rejected it on that account. It is true that Henry Clay, the great apostle of protection, was beaten in 1844 by James K. Polk, but he was beaten on issues growing out of the slavery question—the annexation of Texas among them—which overshadowed all other issues.

DEMOCRATIC STATESMEN.

Men Who Will Lead in the 48th Congress—the Speakership Fight.

[Correspondence of Whig and Courier.]

WASHINGTON, Feb., 1883.

The recent debates in the House upon the tariff and kindred subjects, have furnished good opportunities for observing the Democratic leaders, who are posing as candidates for Speaker of the next House, or for the floor management. The rivalry is animated and the show is entertaining, especially to New England lookers on, who are so greatly interested in the maintenance of protection to American labor.

The Democratic candidates who will fight for the spoils and honors of the next House may be named in the order of their prominence in the Speakership race. Mr. John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, who first entered the House in 1877, seems to be ahead in the race. This may be only apparent and temporary, the result of the belief that the majority in the next House will be free traders, and Mr. Carlisle is supposed to represent that element, as well as the essence of Bourbonism. He is the acknowledged leader of those who clamor for "tariff for revenue only," as a convenient cloak for the more objectionable term, which very few Democrats have the audacity to father. At every stage in the tariff bill he is on the floor, offering amendments, or suggesting dilatory action, and the Democrats almost unanimously follow him in every movement. When Mr. Carlisle says, stand up, up rises the whole Bourbon phalanx, as if operated by a string and pulley. Mr. Carlisle is an able man, measured by a certain standard. That is, he was born great, but was spoiled by rearing in a very narrow atmosphere. He is well read in the line which suits his taste, like one who, having made up his mind to be a Democrat and a free trader, studies solely to fortify himself in his early prejudices. His personal appearance is that of a student. His face is pale; his forehead broad and retreating; his brow overhanging; his hair dark brown and very thin. He always dresses in plain black and wears a low turn down collar. He talks very little except when the subject of revenue is under consideration, or when the Democratic party is assailed. He is a good speaker and always gets the attention of the House whenever he addresses it. He is not a constant sitter in the House, but is a constant attendant on the sessions of the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. Carlisle's race for the Speakership will be impeded by the candidacy of another Kentuckian, Mr. J. C. S. Blackburn, familiarly and affectionately called Joe, who is perhaps the best representative of the fired Southern heart in the present House, or who will be in the next House. Mr. Blackburn is a younger man than Mr. Carlisle, and among the "boys" is more popular. If he continues in the field, it looks as though he would win or have a hand in electing some other free trader than his colleague, between whom and himself there is an irrepressible conflict. Mr. Blackburn seldom occupies the time of the House with speeches, or his seat, either, for that matter. He is, however, rather an attractive speaker, and when he does open his mouth, the House listens. In personal appearance he is rather prepossessing, being rather above the medium height, wearing a pleasing face and address, with scattering hair and a heavy moustache of a shade bordering on the strawberry blonde. Mr. Blackburn entered Congress in 1875, and was a candidate for Speaker against Mr. Randall in 1879. He is aggressive in his political warfare, and socially a good fellow: therefore the other candidates will have little inclination to "tread on the tail of his coat."

Mr. Samuel J. Randall, ex-Speaker and Speaker anticipant, entered Congress in 1865, two years later than his veteran Republican colleague from Philadelphia, Judge Kelley. His position in the Democratic party is anomalous. He is strong in its affections, and yet he is weak. He is with it in its organization, and yet he is against its most vital policy, if it can be charged with such things as convictions. Mr. Randall is a Democratic protectionist, and therefore unthinking people who forget that the Democratic party has wrought its chief triumphs under false pretences, are wont to remark that Mr. Randall will stand small chance for consideration in the 48th Congress which will be essentially a free trade body. Mr. Randall is an adroit manager, and he does not agree with these critics. He makes no parade of his strength, but evidently relies upon the well known cowardice of Democracy, when he counts upon a free trade majority compromising its "views" for the hope of '84. He very well knows that in spite of the late tidal wave, the policy of protection has made advances, even in the Democratic ranks, and he will work this for all it is worth. Mr. Randall is not an attractive public speaker; he lacks force and versatility as an orator; but he is a good parliamentarian and he was a very good presiding officer—not so good, of course, as Mr. Blaine was, but better than the average. He is of medium height, thick set, slightly stooping, with a full round head, and a smooth face, which somewhat resembles that of Edwin Booth. As a leader on the floor, Mr. Randall is valuable to his party, being cool and thoroughly versed in all the tactics known to a filibustering minority or a desperate majority.

Mr. Samuel S. Cox, well known as "Sunset," has for many years been a remarkable figure in politics. He first entered Congress from Ohio in 1859, serving three terms. Then he removed to New York city, and in 1871 was again elected to Congress, and with the exception of a few months, has been in Congress ever since. On the death of Speaker Kerr, in the 44th Congress, he was elected to fill his place, and made a fair presiding officer. He is an intense partisan and a free trader. Mr. Cox's reputation has been chiefly that of a writer and a humorist. He is a pleasant talker and sometimes eloquent, not always, however, exercising good taste in his zeal for applause and political success. He is one of the smallest men in stature on the floor of the House, his very thick-soled shoes barely raising him to mediocrity. He is very popular socially, and his pleasant face often relieves the monotony of frowns that seem to prevail in his neighborhood on the Bourbon side. After Carlisle and Blackburn have killed off each other, and Randall shall have been sacrificed for "tariff for revenue only," Mr. Cox expects to step in and capture the Speakership.

These four constitute the real candidates for Speaker. But there are many expectant dark horses, of whom Illinois has two. Mr. Wm. R. Morrison is one. He is a legislative veteran, having been in Congress continuously since 1863. While neither a good speaker, nor a parliamentarian, nor yet a leader of men by nature, Mr. Morrison has a reputation as one of the Democratic leaders. That he is a representative man all must admit, for he is an intense free trader, when it will do no harm to the party to be such, and his Bourbonism is beyond suspicion. He has not the adroit ability of Randall, nor the plausibleness and tact of Blackburn, nor the studied eloquence of Carlisle, nor the natural wit and good natured artfulness of Cox, to commend him, and cannot succeed unless for once the Democratic party decides to be honest and to elect for Speaker a man who may wreck it in one session on the shoals of so-called "revenue reform," which is one of the gauzy shrouds in which free trade exposes its dangerous charms. Mr. Morrison is a man of medium height and well constructed physically, having dark gray hair and full beard. He talks very little and seems to shun debate, except when his favorite hobby is attacked, and even then he does not command great attention.

The other Illinois aspirant for the Speakership is the sprightly man of bounce, Mr. Wm. M. Springer, well named. In physique, Mr. Springer is the greatest of all the Democratic candidates; in mental calibre he is the least. He is constant in his attendance on the floor; in fact he is on the floor about as much as in his seat, and it is a cold and uninviting occasion when he cannot spring to his feet and address the reporter's gallery and his far away constituents in language that would be impassioned if it expressed all that Springer seems to feel. No man on the floor gets snubbed or more thoroughly squelched in argument or repartee as often as Springer, and no man imagines himself great in conquest so uniformly as he. Why he is a candidate for Speaker is a puzzle, unless it be that the Democrats are so uncertain a quantity that they may fly to any dark horse as an escape from an ugly dilemma. In personal appearance, Mr. Springer is an enlarged edition of Mr. Cox, as seen in the distance, having a large head considerably bald, and a face half concealed with a dark, greyish beard. Springer's good nature is his redeeming quality.

Of course, Ohio must have a candidate, and Mr. George L. Converse is named—as a very dark horse. Mr. Converse is serving his second term only, and is a quiet business like man, and a lawyer of ability. He is constantly in his seat watching legislation, but takes very little active part. He is a short, thick set man, with a dark brown head and a clean shaven face, agreeable to look upon, but too mild and unambitious to grace the Speaker's chair.

If the Democratic party dared to go farther south than Kentucky, for a representative candidate, it would find one in Nathaniel J. Hammond, of Georgia, who seems to be thoroughly convinced nobody has any rights Bourbons are bound to respect; that nobody but a southern lawyer can be a good legislator. Mr. Hammond is serving his second term only, and yet is said to aspire to leadership. He is a very good speaker, and is a fine specimen of human architecture, of medium height and well rounded, with a good head and face, set in heavy dark hair and long, full beard. Mr. Hammond never halts in his Southern prejudices, invariably voting for Southern claims and "agin" Northern ones; therefore he ought to be the Democratic Speaker, but he will not be until the Democrats get control still farther away from the "late unpleasantness."

Many Democrats expect an extra session to be called in March, which gives the more interest to this Speakership strife. They may be disappointed in this, but by delays and dilatory tricks they are prolonging the discussion of necessary measures, apparently in the hope of forcing the President to call them together. With this view the candidates are making a lively parade of themselves at present, and it is noted with what zeal the free trade candidates labor to put ex-Speaker Randall "in a box" by proposing votes, upon amendments to the tariff bill which will force him to record himself as a protectionist or to betray his Pennsylvania constituents. The Republicans are enjoying this little by-play very much, and the signs of internecine Democratic warfare largely compensate for Democratic obstruction. The party of the tidal wave is not altogether happy and unanimous, and the political prophets are already foretelling Bourbon disruption next year as the result of pending quarrels and too much "tariff for revenue only."

J. W. B.

For a few weeks past ex-Senator McDonald has retired considerably into the background. Less has been heard about his Presidential prospects, and he is said to have suddenly become inflicted with an indisposition to talk. It is all doubtless a neatly contrived plan of his friends, who have tipped a wink to those who were prematurely booming him and have slapped a pad over the Senator's mouth.

Worth Looking After.

"When regular insurance companies are anxiously debating whether it is not best to increase the amount of reserve on policies to correspond with the low rate of interest attainable in money, it ought to strike the dullest understanding, that they would not lock up money without reason, and that the assessment plan of keeping no reserve at all is just a little risky, unless men are to be supposed to lose business ability in exact proportion to their business experience and success."

The Connecticut Mutual Life Ins. Co. is computing its reserve on the NEW PLAN at 3 per cent. interest. This Co. has always been recognized as the one keeping on the safe side.

AN IMMENSE SHEET OF ICE.

Penobscot Bay Frozen Over.

CAMDEN, Feb. 6. Penobscot Bay was frozen over last night being a sheet of ice as far as the eye can reach to the islands which separate the east bay from the west bay. The Boston steamers were cut from the ice in the upper part of the bay on Sunday and Monday, assisted by revenue cutter Woodbury. Both proceeded to Boston last night. The bay has not been frozen before since 1875, when the steamer Katahdin remained in the ice at Belfast harbor from January 24th to April 15th, being then cut out. For several weeks there has been large fields of floating ice from four to eight inches thick in the bay. The weather-wise predict that the bay will be closed the remainder of the winter.

THE BODWELL WATER POWER COMPANY.

The Hearing Tuesday

An Amendment Offered by Mr. Stetson.

The Matter to be Settled Thursday.

[Special to Whig & Courier.]

AUGUSTA, Feb. 6. The hearing on the petition of the Bodwell Water Power Company for an act to amend and make valid their charter and for other purposes was continued before the Committee on Interior Waters this afternoon. Among those present were Messrs. Wm. H. McCrillis, Chas. P. Stetson, Joab W. Palmer, S. B. Gilman, E. F. Adams, J. F. Hodgkins, and J. P. Walker, of Bangor; James Webster, A. G. King and Asa Bolf, of Orono. Mr. Stetson, who appeared in behalf of the mill owners on the Stillwater Branch, claimed that the Bodwell Company asked for unusual and extraordinary powers and privileges which if granted must interfere with

of the main river by obstructing the passage of logs. The rights and interests of his clients would be seriously and detrimentally affected by the erection of such a dam as asked for by the petitioners across the Stillwater branch. He submitted the draft of a new bill, which is the same as that asked for by the Bodwell Water Power Company, except in the 12th and 13th sections, the latter of which, authorizing the creation of reservoir on the Penobscot and its tributaries for the storage of water, is stricken out entirely. In the 12th section of the original bill the corporation is authorized and empowered to level up the falls on the Penobscot river between provided that a sluice shall be constructed and maintained through said falls; also to construct and maintain a dam across the Stillwater branch at the most feasible point of sufficient height to hold the reserve of water caused by levelling up the falls at Oldtown. Said corporation shall ascertain, under the supervision and direction of some eminent hydraulic engineer, to be appointed by the Supreme Judicial Court for Penobscot county, the exact amount of water passing down the Stillwater branch at different stages of water during the summer drought, while both the Oldtown falls and said Stillwater branch are at their natural flow and condition. All questions of damages shall be adjudicated by his decision.

Mr. Stetson's Amendment

provides that the dam across the Stillwater branch shall be constructed at the foot of Pushaw Falls, and shall be no higher than is sufficient to hold said reserve, and shall not in any manner prevent the natural flow of water down said branch. The water shall not be drawn to such an extent as to prevent the navigation of said river for logs, rafts and other lumber, and questions of damages shall be settled by appeal to the Courts. Mr. McCrillis also spoke in the interests of the mill owners on the Stillwater branch. The matter will be decided at a meeting of the committee on Thursday.

It is the general opinion that they will report a charter substantially as asked for by the Bodwell Water Power Company.

Hersey, of North Berwick; Fred Atwood, of Winterport; C. P. Mattocks, of Portland. From New Hampshire: D. H. Goodell, of Antrim; Warren Brown, of Hampton Falls; A. W. Quint, of Manchester; Nathaniel Head, of Hooksett.

On motion of Mr. Pratt, of Worcester, the details of the next fair, place of meeting, premiums, etc., were put in the hands of the executive officers. President Chadbourne, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, made an address in which he made a strong plea for a more earnest support of the experimental station recently established by the State, and in closing said the farmers' societies are the most important agents in bringing their members into the closer social relations of which they have at present too little. The Trustees were instructed to offer premiums for fat stock.

It was voted that the Society memorialize Congress in favor of the bill now before it for an appropriation of $15,000 for every State for agricultural purposes and that the New England Congressmen be requested to support the bill. The Society then adjourned to Young's Hotel, where the annual dinner was served.

XLVII CONGRESS—Second Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.

Mr Morrill moved consideration of the Tariff bill. Mr. Ferry asked unanimous consent to take up the pending post route bill, but accepted the suggestion that it lie over till to-morrow, and the Tariff bill was taken up. The pending question was an amendment offered by Mr. Beck last evening, extending the duty of 10 cents per pound levied by the bill upon "wools of the first class," the value whereof at the last port or place whence exported to the United States, excluding charges in such port, shall be 30 cents per pound or less.

Mr. Beck's amendment was agreed to. Mr. Beck then moved to make the duty on woolen cloths, shawls and all manufactures of wool of every description, made wholly or in part of wool, not specially enumerated or provided for, 35 instead of 40 cents per pound, leaving the additional ad valorem duty of 35 per cent. as in the bill.

Mr. Sherman offered as a substitute for this paragraph the paragraph recommended by the Tariff Commission making the duty on woolen cloths, woolen shawls and all manufactures of wool of every description, made wholly or in part of wool, not specially enumerated or provided for in this act, valued at not exceeding 80 cents per pound, 35 cents per pound and 35 per cent ad valorem; valued at above 80 cents per pound, 35 cents per pound and in addition thereto 40 per cent ad valorem. This was agreed to and Mr. Beck's amendment having been withdrawn the paragraph was left in this form.

On motion of Mr. Aldrich the duty on flannels, goods made on knitting frames, balmorals, woolen and worsted yarns and all manufactures of every description, composed wholly or in part of worsted, the hair of the alpaca goat or other animals, except such as are composed in part of wool, not specially enumerated or provided for, valued at above 80 cents per pound, was made 35 cents per pound and 40 per cent ad valorem. On Mr. Beck's motion the duty on bunting was reduced from 12 to 10 cents per square yard and 35 per cent. ad valorem.

The House resolutions in relation to the death of the late Representatives Updegraff and Hawk were received. After eulogistic addresses the resolutions were adopted and the Senate adjourned.

House.

The Speaker pro tem (Mr. Robinson, of Mass.), laid before the House various Executive communications. Mr. Haskell, of Kansas, introduced a bill for the prevention of trespasses on Indian lands; referred.

On the motion of Mr. Grant, of Vermont, the Senate bill authorizing the Lamoille Valley Extension Railroad Company and Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain Railroad Company to construct a bridge across Lake Champlain from Alburgh, Vermont, to Rouse's Point, New York, was taken up and the substance of the House bill for the same object was substituted therefor and the Senate bill as amended passed. Mr. Haskell, Kansas, offered a resolution that on and after Feb. 7th the House shall at 5 P. M. take a recess until 8 P. M. Mr. Singleton, Ill., objecting to its present consideration it was referred to the Committee of the Whole. The House at 11:40 went into a Committee of the Whole, Mr. Briggs, of N.H., in the chair, on Tariff bill.

After considerable debate on the amendment of Mr. Tucker, of Virginia, to reduce the duties on plate glass, a motion by Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, that the committee rise for the purpose of closing the debate was agreed to. In the House Mr. Kelley moved to limit the debate to five minutes. Mr. Mills, of Texas, hoped the House would not submit to that sort of law, and Mr. Berry, of California, moved to extend the time to twenty minutes.

Mr. Berry's motion was lost. Mr. Mills moved to make the time ten minutes; lost. Mr. Kelley's motion was then agreed to and the House again went into committee. The various amendments offered by Mr. Tucker reducing the duty on plate glass; lost. The earthenware and glassware schedule having been completed, Mr. Morrison offered a proviso reducing the duties levied thereon ten per cent. after July 1st, 1884, and an additional ten per cent. after July 1st, 1885, this proviso, however, not to apply to any article dutiable at a lower rate than 50 per cent. ad valorem, nor to reduce the duty on any article below 50 per cent.

Mr. Anderson, of Kansas, offered as a substitute for the entire schedule the corresponding schedule in the bill under consideration in the Senate. He stated it was the schedule as completed by the Senate; lost. Consideration of the metal schedule was then entered upon. Mr. Kelly, under instruction from his committee, moved to increase from 50 to 75 cents per ton the duty on iron ore, including manganiferous iron ore; also dross or residuum from burnt pyrites. Pending action on Mr. Kelley's motion the committee rose, and appropriate resolutions upon the life and public services of the late Representatives Updegraff, of Ohio, and Hawk, of Illinois, were offered. After several eulogistic addresses the resolutions were adopted and House adjourned.

LECTURE AT HAMPDEN. The first lecture given in the Hampden course for the benefit of the M. E. church was delivered Monday evening by Rev. G. R. Palmer, Presiding Elder of the Bangor District. His subject was "The Child and the Home" and it is sufficient to say that his good reputation suffered nothing from the effort. A grand lecture is the report the people give.

The HANDELS held a profitable rehearsal last evening under the skillful instruction of Mr. H. K. White, Jr., who is proving a very popular director. During the evening the members rehearsed the 42nd Psalm, "Ave Maria," by Mendelssohn, "The Lord is Great," from the Creation and "Sing O Heavens," by Tours. The piano accompaniments are played most acceptably by Miss May Lincoln.

NEW FIVE CENT PIECES. The first issue of the new five cent pieces has been made from the Philadelphia mint. One hundred and two thousand four hundred pieces were put into circulation. The new nickels were eagerly sought and for five hours a constant stream of purchasers passed the distributing desk. The supply was exhausted long before the closing hour. The new coin will be struck off at the rate of $5,000 per day.

SHOCKING BURNING ACCIDENT. A sad accident happened on the Ten Lots, Fairfield, yesterday morning, by which Joanna Gibbs, aged about eighty, lost her life. The girl on returning to the house found her in flames, which were extinguished by the help of other scholars.

SUDDEN DEATH. The Augusta Journal says: Mr. Thomas Weeks, an aged man 72 years old, stopping for awhile with Mrs. Thoms on Green street, was found dead in his room Monday morning. Whist was engaged in by quite a portion of those in attendance and the latter part of the evening was devoted to dancing.

Mr. Gilmore attended the meeting of the City Government Monday evening, seemingly in his usual health and spirits; within an hour after returning home he died of heart disease. He leaves a wife and three sons.

LOSS OF A BUCKSPORT VESSEL. Advices have been received announcing the loss of the brig Henry C. Bucknam, of Bucksport, on Mono reef. The vessel cleared from Portland for Cardenas, Cuba, with a cargo of cooperage and lumber. She is supposed to have made a mistake in lights and thus loosing her bearings went ashore. The time of the wreck is supposed to be Monday, Feb. 5th. All hands were saved, but the vessel is reported a total loss. The Henry C. Bucknam was a well built vessel of 426.91 tons register, launched from the yard of Wm. Beazley, and was commanded by Capt. John Lawrence, a well known sea captain. The brig was owned mostly in Bucksport, Wm. Beazley and members of his family holding 15.32. She was valued at $24,000, and the loss is about half covered by insurance, the Beazleys having $8,000 insurance. The cargo is a total loss, and is probably insured.

A QUESTION AFFECTING THE INSOLVENT LAWS. United States Deputy Marshal Marble visited Ellsworth last week and attached the stock of goods of the Boston Tea Company. W. G. Savage is supposed to be the sole proprietor. The attachment was made upon a bill in favor of Blaney, Browne, & Co., of Boston, to amount due of about $1,400. It was made in the United States Court to avoid the State insolvent law, their attorneys claiming that the insolvency will not dissolve the attachment by the party entering insolvency. This raises a question never before raised with our State law, and if sustained will do away with much of the equity power of the law.

CATHOLIC FESTIVITIES. The festival at Norombega Hall under the auspices of the young ladies of St. John's Catholic Parish, came to a close last evening after a highly successful session of two days. The first night the attendance numbered about eight hundred and the closing evening the numbers were swelled to about one thousand persons. The hall was bright in numerous decorations and with the great throng, a most animated scene was presented. During the evening, supper was served to large numbers. An entertainment was given consisting of singing by a chorus, two capital Irish sketches by Con. O'Brien and a solo by Miss Minnie Wall. Dancing was then participated in and was kept up until a late hour. The festival was a financial success.

FIRE AT NEWPORT. Fire was discovered at 10 o'clock Monday evening in the store of Dow & Burrill, dealers in dry and fancy goods on Main street, Newport, and a general alarm was given. The fire started in the stairway leading to the cellar and had made considerable headway when discovered, but by prompt exertion was soon extinguished. The store which is owned by Elisha W. Shaw, Esq., was damaged by fire and water to the extent of several hundred dollars, and the large stock of Messrs. Dow & Burrill was badly damaged by hasty removal and water. The store and stock was partly insured. The cause of the fire is unknown. The timely discovery of the fire without doubt saved the total destruction of a large portion of the business places of Newport.

CONCERT AND SUPPER. The vestry of the Union street Methodist society was occupied last evening with a large audience. The early portion of the evening was devoted to literary and musical exercises, and the remainder of the time to the participation of refreshments, viewing the wonders of the picture gallery and in social converse. The programme as presented was as follows: Piano duet, Miss Berry and Miss Patterson; quartette, "Come where the lily's bloom." Miss Osgood, Miss Sellers, Messrs. Frost and Curtis; instrumental trio, piano, violin, cornet, Mr. and Mrs. Lougee and Mr. Stewart; reading, "Widow Brown's Christmas," Miss Alice Newhall; cornet solo, Mr Chas. Dickey; duet, "How dear to me the hour," Mrs. H. W. Briggs and Mr. F. A. Curtis; reading, "Biddy's bad luck," Miss Louise Savage; song, "The angel's serenade," Miss Helen Osgood and instrumental trio, Mr. and Mrs. Lougee and Mr. Stewart. The several pieces were very creditably given and the audience applauded generously.

A BRILLIANT EVENT. Monday evening Miss Hattie Stanley, of Augusta, gave a reception for Mr and Mrs. H. Perley Mulliken, who have recently returned from their wedding tour. The Journal says: It was the event of the season and by all odds the finest affair of the kind that Augusta has ever seen. The company was in every respect a select one, and composed of our very best people. About 150 persons were in attendance, quite a large number being present from out of town. Miss Stanley's capacious parlors were elegantly decorated with flowers. The reception lasted from 8 30 until 11 30 o'clock. Miss Stanley received the guests in a graceful manner. The services of a first-class caterer, Mr. John Dooling, were secured for the occasion, and at 10 30 o'clock a costly and choice collation was served. Pullen's orchestra furnished music. It was an exceedingly dressy party, and the toilets of the ladies were simply magnificent. The bride wore a matchless costume of Ottoman silk trimmed with duchess lace. Miss Stanley was attired in a black satin overskirt with heliotrope brocade. Many rich jewels were worn. Hardly, if ever, has the elegance and costliness of the costumes worn at any former like occasion equalled that of those worn by the ladies at this reception.

CITY AFFAIRS.

The following business was transacted by the City Council last evening at its regular meeting:

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Statement of Mr. Giddings, President of the B. & P. R. R. (at request of the Council), of the agreement between said railroad and the M. C. R. R., relating to the transportation of passengers and freight, was read and ordered on file.

By the treasurer's statement of current expenses it appears that the net earnings of the B. & P. R. R as paid into the treasury the present municipal year up to the present time lacks but $3,750 of paying the annual interest on the whole of the city loan in aid of said road, and the future payments to the close of the municipal year will probably amount to sufficient to take care of the interest.

The report of the Committee on City Property upon the subject of purchase of gravel on the land of C. L. Marston for the sum of $300, was recommitted with a request to the Council to view the premises.

The report of the Committee on Gas Lights upon several petitions for gas lights was accepted and an order passed to erect a globe gas light on Patten street, on Salem street and a Bangor gas light on Elm street.

Report of Committee on Schools on the claim of A. W. Decrow for an infringement of his patent rights by use of patent metallic lined gutters on the new school house, was accepted and the petitioner granted leave to withdraw.

An order was passed to change the name of "Morse's Lane" to "Morse's Court."

Petition of D. P. Wingate for compensation for loss suffered by removal of water tank in Davenport Square, was referred to Water Board.

Statement of lands taken by the Water Board for purposes of the water works and dam at Treat's Falls; accepted and approved and ordered recorded in the City Records and Registry of Deeds.

Order to accept the gas light located in front of the Hammond street church; passed.

Report of special committee on communication of T. N. Egery, relating to use of surplus water at dam, recommending the reference of the subject matter together with a certain proposition submitted to the committee by Mr. Egery relating to the manner of utilizing the water; referred to the Water Board, said Board to report back to the City Council.

IN COMMON COUNCIL.

Petition of Owen McCann and als. for laying out of Barker street from First street to Main street; referred to Committee on Streets and Highways.

Order for payment of $50 additional salary to each policeman for present municipal year; indefinitely postponed.

Concurrent action was taken on all other matters acted on by upper board.

ICE CUTTING ON THE PENOBSCOT.

Operations Now Drawing to a Close—Splendid Ice Being Secured.

Owing to the liberal supply of ice throughout the country during the present frigid winter there has been only a small amount of "crystallized coolness" harvested on the Penobscot this season. The ice companies along our river have still on hand large quantities left over from last year and those engaged in the business in this vicinity have generally thought it advisable to suspend operations till a more favorable season presents itself.

The principle operations on the Penobscot this winter have been those of D. Sargent's Sons, E. & I. Stetson and W. C. Pitman. Pitman finished some time since and stored about five thousand tons. The Stetsons have also completed their harvesting and have secured five thousand tons, which, with what they had on hand makes ten thousand tons in their houses. D. Sargent's Sons are still at work and will continue cutting for a few days longer. They will get about six thousand tons, which, with what they kept over from last season, will give them twelve thousand tons.

A representative of the WHIG repaired to the ice fields on a recent afternoon and beheld operations actively progressing. D. Sargent's Sons have a crew of good size at work and splendid ice is being secured by them. The ice is eighteen inches in thickness, absolutely free from dirt or snow, and is as transparent as glass. Penobscot river ice has all the desirable qualities to be found in ice and it is not surpassed by that of any river on the globe. The superiority of Penobscot ice is doubtless due in part to the exceptional purity of the water which has been demonstrated by analyses many times in the past.

In the early part of the present winter the Baltimore Ice Company was organized in Baltimore, Maryland, with a capital of $100,000. D. Sargent's Sons, of Brewer Village, and E. & I. Stetson, of Bangor, are stockholders in the above corporation and have a contract to furnish the company with all the ice they will need for their retail trade in Baltimore. The ice which the Sargents and Stetsons now have housed will be shipped to the Baltimore company during the coming summer.

STEAMBOATING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

The Efficient Work Done by the Woodbury in Penobscot Bay.

It has been difficult during the past week to get reliable information from the steamers which have been ice bound in the Penobscot Bay and some of the reports afloat have been quite far from correct. The explanation is found in the fact that the steamers were frozen in the ice at distances somewhat remote from landings on the river or bay and communication with them by either telephone or telegraph has been out of the question from Bangor. A letter received by us from Capt. Abbey, commander of the U. S. Revenue Steamer Levi Woodbury, gives interesting information in this regard. The very efficient services of the Woodbury on the Maine coast during the present winter are thoroughly appreciated and will not be soon forgotten.

Capt. Abbey says both the Katahdin and the Penobscot were released from the ice by the Woodbury, between the hours of 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. of Sunday, the 4th inst. The Katahdin was off Odam's ledge, at the mouth of Penobscot river, and over three miles in the ice. The Penobscot was off Great Spruce Head, Penobscot bay, (some fifteen miles from the Katahdin's position) and about a half mile in the ice. Both required much heavy work, but were, fortunately, reached without material damage and sent along rejoicing. The Katahdin being short of coal attempted to make Belfast, but succeeded only in getting beleaguered again, and having again wired the Woodbury, was again relieved by her Monday, broken out of a half mile of ice, furnished with coal and seen down the bay to clear water, after which she made Rockland in safety, and should the weather hold as now, I judge that she will be prudent if she remains as far south as that port until about April 1st.

The western bay is blocked, but the eastern bay is still practicable. Castine is the only open port that I can find above Rockland and that would have been closed had the Woodbury not broken it out on the 4th during the snow storm.

AMUSEMENTS.

La Belle Russe

Miss Jeffreys Lewis, supported by a company which enjoys a high reputation, will play "La Belle Russe" in the Opera House to-night. The story, which is of no exciting nature and possesses strong attractions for the general theatre goer, is briefly as follows:

La Belle Russe is an adventuress who, tired of the degraded life she has led, is ready to run any risks to obtain an entrance into that society from which her previous course has debarred her. Circumstances occur which favor her attempt to extricate herself from the surroundings in which she has hitherto passed her life. She has a twin sister married to one Phillip Calthorpe, second son of a wealthy baronet. Phillip having been disowned by his family on account of his marriage, is forced to enlist and leave his wife to her own resources.

After an interval of ten years passed as a soldier in India he succeeds to the Calthorpe property and title owing to the death of an elder brother. La Belle Russe believing her sister to be dead, seizes the opportunity and passes herself off as the wife of Sir Phillip, aided as she is by a close resemblance to her sister and the possession of her marriage certificate and other proofs.

At the Calthorpe mansion, however, La Belle Russe meets with Capt. Brand, who has been one of her former victims, and who had sworn revenge upon her. Then commences a duel between these two, she strives to maintain the position she has assumed and he endeavoring by every means in his power to thwart and drive her out. So cleverly is the play constructed that the audience are alternately in sympathy with the one and the other, and it is not until the close of the final act that it is made apparent which will succeed in this strange battle.

John McCullough.

The sale of seats yesterday for "Virginius," to be given at the Opera House to-morrow evening by John McCullough and company, was almost unprecedently large. Between 8 and 10 A. M. upwards of 500 seats were sold and the demand continued throughout the day. Plenty of good seats, however, are still left, but it would be well to make early application for them. It is now assured that one of the most brilliant audiences that ever graced our beautiful Opera House will be in attendance to-morrow evening.

Notes.

Mr. M. H. Andrews will direct the orchestra at the Opera House to-night and to-morrow night.

Among the coming attractions at the Opera House are: An amateur dramatic entertainment, "Patience," under direction of Mr. H. K. White; Boston Theatre Company in "The White Slave," Corinne Merrie-Makers and Buffalo Bill.

"La Belle Russe" was played in Portland on Monday and Tuesday evenings and the papers of that city are intensely enthusiastic in praise of Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and her talented company.

A Boston despatch says: "Miss Margaret Mather's appearance here Monday night as Juliet was an overwhelming success, the house being packed so that there was not even standing room at 8:30 o'clock. Miss Mather was called before the curtain several times at the finish of every act and her reception was a perfect ovation. The advance sale of seats for the balance of the week is the largest the theatre ever had."

The 37th annual statement of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company is given in another column. All the figures except those of losses have rolled up wonderfully in 1882. The balance of net assets is now $50,172,371. The profit item under this head is $165 853. The surplus by the New York standard is $6,850,000, showing an increase of nearly $400,000. Their extreme care in looking after details now enables them to report the gratifying fact, "Net premiums in course of collection—none." The Connecticut Mutual accomplishes these results with the least cost for good and effective work. Last year it succeeded in reducing the ratio of expense of management to receipts to the low figure of 8.75 per cent. H. N. Fairbanks is the General Agent.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

JUDGE GODDARD CALLS ON JUDGE WHITEHOUSE TO RETRACT — JUDGE WHITEHOUSE'S RETRACTION.

To the Editor of the Press:

Will you do me the favor to publish the following correspondence, which explains itself?

I am sorry that Judge Whitehouse should have thought it becoming to make his retraction of a public misstatement of facts the vehicle for deliberate and uncalled for misrepresentation of the purpose, and ridicule of the scope of the argument which I had the honor to address to the Honorable Committee. I had no occasion to assail his logic or motives, assuming the latter to be sincere, and being content to trust the former to the committee. Of course I accept his apology for his not over-courteous interruption of my address, but I find it difficult to excuse his second offence.

Your obedient servant,
C. W. GODDARD.

[Judge Goddard to Judge Whitehouse.]

PORTLAND, Feb. 1, 1883.

Hon. Wm. P. Whitehouse, Justice of the Superior Court for the County of Kennebec:

SIR:—During my remarks yesterday afternoon before the Committee on the Judiciary in the hall of the House of Representatives in reference to the restoration of the death penalty for murder in the first degree, I had occasion to read the following criminal statistics of this State prepared and published by me two years ago in reference to another subject.

"A comparison of the State prison report for 1880 with that of 1851 discloses an increase of felony, and especially of murder and other high crimes, which ought to startle our community.

Look at the official figures:

Crime.	1851	1880	Percentage of increase.
Murders	4	21	425
Manslayers	1	5	400
Murderous assaults	3	7	133
Arson, &c.	4	9	125
Rape	1	9	800
Attempt to rape	1	6	500
Felonious assaults	0	4
Robbery	0	4
Piracy	0	2
Total of high crimes	14	67	375
Other felonies	73	200
Total of State prison convicts,	87	267*	207

If two murderers had not been pardoned last year, our 'assassins' row' would have reached 23.

In 1851 our population was 581,690; in 1880 it is 648,945; increase in 29 years, 67,265, or less than 10½ per cent.

*I have announced 63 as the number of State prison convicts serving out their terms in our five jail workshops, because that was the number in 1878, as given by Gov. Connor to the House of Representatives in answer to an inquiry of that body. Those 58 State prison convicts are included in the total 267 given above."

At that point you interrupted me to inquire who compiled those statistics, and, on being told, you were pleased to deny their truthfulness.

On a question of such grave importance to the people of Maine, something more serious is involved than a mere question of personal veracity and reliability. A material public misstatement in such a presence, and on so momentous an issue, whether intentional or otherwise, demands immediate correction. Neither the honorable Legislature nor the citizens ought to be deceived, either by assertions or denials made to them or their committee. The foregoing suggestion, as well as your exalted position as sole Justice of the Court, clothed with exclusive criminal jurisdiction over the County of Kennebec, and the imminence of legislative action toward better protection of human life justify my request that you will be pleased at once either to make good your impeachment of the statistics in question or to retract your assertion.

The desired action will require nothing more complicated than a comparison of the official State Prison reports of 1857 and 1880, and a reference to the U. S. census and the House journal and documents of 1878.

Your obedient servant,
C. W. GODDARD.

[Judge Whitehouse's Reply to Judge Goddard.]

Hon. C. W. Goddard.

Dear Sir: I returned your pencil sketch to the Augusta House, supposing you were still there, with a brief memoranda of what I now write.

I did not hear you state the names of all the "high crimes" in your little table of statistics, by reason of conversation addressed to me by Mr. Homan and others, but understood you to claim that "life sentences" had been imposed in all those cases. I at once saw that the conclusion was grossly at variance with a tabulated statement carefully prepared by a former State official and now in my possession. But on more careful examination I assume you could not have so claimed, and hence there is necessarily no such discrepancy.

I regret the misunderstanding, and have no reason to doubt the accuracy of your figures. I also regret that a gentleman who has occupied and still occupies such "exalted positions" should seek to create a mere prejudice upon a question of such gravity as the death penalty by the use of ad captandum arguments drawn from comparison of periods having radically different social and moral conditions, instead of candidly meeting the issue presented by the facts of the last fifteen years in this State and other States where the death penalty is and is not found; knowing well, as you must know, that the same or greater increase of crime may be found in nearly all of the States where the gallows has been relentlessly maintained since 1850. But I will not discuss it.

THE OCEAN MAIL SERVICE.

WHAT IT HAS COST TO SEND LETTERS ACROSS THE OCEAN SINCE 1848.

Early in the present session Senator Hoar offered a resolution calling for all the information in the possession of the Post-master General about the ocean mail service from 1848 to 1882, particularly the contracts under which it has been performed, and the acts under which they were concluded. That information has been forwarded by the Postmaster General. The letter forwarded by the Post-master General shows that, before 1848, ocean mail service was performed by sailing vessels. They received as compensation a small gratuity, payable on each letter at the port of delivery.

Under the acts of March 3, 1845, and March 3, 1847, contracts were made by the Postmaster General with the Ocean steamer Navigation Company for semi-monthly trips between New York and Southampton and Bremen for $200,000 a year, and with the same company for semi-monthly trips to Southampton and Havre for $150,000. The Secretary of the Navy contracted, under the act of March 3, 1847, with E. K. Collins and his associates, for twenty trips per annum between New York and Liverpool for $385,000. The Collins line was to be composed of war vessels officered by navy officers. Subsequently, under the provisions of the act of March 3, 1851, the service was made semi-monthly and the compensation increased to $858,000. Under the same act the Secretary of the Navy contracted for service between New York and New Orleans, Havana and Chagres with George Law and his associates for semi monthly trips, at $290 000 per annum, and with W. H. Aspinwall for connecting steamship service between Panama San Francisco and Astoria, Ore., at $199 000 a year for monthly trips.

Subsequently, under the act of March 3, 1851, the trips were made monthly, and the compensation was increased to $328,250. Under the act of 1847 contracts were made by the Postmaster General with M. C. Mordecai for semi monthly trips between Charleston, Savannah, Key West and Havana, at $50,000 a year. The Collins Line collapsed before the end of the contract period. Services were continued on the same routes for a compensation equivalent to the sea and inland postage on the mail matter covered. United States mail steamship service from New York to Rio Janeiro, via St. Thomas was authorized by the act of May, 1867, at $150 000 per annum, monthly trips, for ten years, until Sept. 30, 1874. Service on the San Francisco, Japan and China line, under contract with the Postmaster General, authorized by the acts of Feb. 17, 1865, and Feb. 18, 1867, at $500 000 per annum, for monthly trips, ended Dec 31, 1876.

Originally a stop was to be made at Honolulu. Subsequently this was waived by the Government on the condition of the establishment of a branch service to Shanghai. Then a special service from San Francisco to Honolulu was established, under contract with the Postmaster General for monthly trips. This contract expired in September, 1873. All these special contracts were made with American steamers. They constitute the only mail subsidies granted by Congress under the present system. The Government pays foreign steamers the ocean rate of postage—about two cents a letter. American steamers get ocean and inland rates, as well. English steamers carrying the transatlantic mails get about $225,000 from the United States, and about twice as much from the British Government. From 1848 to 1883 the United States paid in all, $31 204 267 88 for ocean mail service, $24 911,638 43 of this amount was paid to steamers sailing under the American flag.

A MINT OF THEIR OWN

HOW MANUEL OJEDA AND HIS WIFE STARTED ON THE HIGH ROAD TO FORTUNE BUT FELL BY THE WAYSIDE.

Manuel Ojeda, with his wife and nine-year-old son, arrived in New York from Spain about a year ago. Manuel Ojeda, Sr—for his now ten year-old boy bears the same Christian name—promptly decided to make a fortune easily and concluded that the easiest way was to open a mint of his own. He didn't consult the United States authorities, but began operations quietly. He engaged quiet apartments, and procuring the requisite tools—for he is an expert, apparently—started stamping bogus half dollars. The dies were made from original pieces and were correct, but Ojeda employed cheaper material than the government and consequently realized handsomely from his labor. He made his coins of brass, which he covered with a thin coat of silver. He adopted the old plan of putting in circulation the coins of his manufacture. He visited saloons and cigar stores, buying cheap drinks and cheap cigars, and netting from forty to forty-five cents each call, with a bad cigar or worse decoction thrown in, while his wife, carrying a large market basket and accompanied by her boy, visited the stores and made purchases of small articles, thus getting rid of the base coins and pocketing the good money given in change. Where they have been working for the past year is a mystery, but for the past week they have been doing Jersey City, and it is safe to presume that they have victimized numerous storekeepers in Brooklyn and New York city before attempting to fleece the Jerseymen. When a Jersey storekeeper has been swindled by a bogus coin it is not long before the police are made aware of the fact.

The first day of the visit of Ojeda and his helpmeet the police learned of their call, but the wary couple contrived to elude arrest until Thursday night, when Officer Egan, who had been detailed to watch the ferry, saw the Ojeda family as they were entering the ferry house and took them into custody. They were astonished at being informed by the interpreter (they professed to being unable to comprehend what was said to them in English) that the majority of the pieces found on them were counterfeit, but were more astonished yesterday morning when apprised of the fact that the United States officers, who had been notified of the arrest, made a search of their apartments and had found a complete bogus mint and a basketful of coin of their make. The information that they lived in Bleecker street was dragged from the ten-year-old boy who parted with it reluctantly, and it was only when Police Captain Farrier brandished an ugly cavalry sabre over his head and threatened to decapitate him, that the frightened boy imparted the desired information. Captain Farrier and a United States deputy marshal accompanied the boy to his home in this city. They stopped at the residence of Officer Drummond, of the secret service on the way, and then visited the corner of Greene and Bleecker streets, and in a room on the top floor of the building, the door of which was well secured by three padlocks, was discovered the mint with the necessary tools—a furnace, milling machine, polishing machine, dies, a quantity of brass cut in strips the width of half a dollar and a hammer. The strips of brass were softened in the furnace and were then pounded into shape in the brass dies. The counterfeits were of precisely the same weight as the good coin; but unfortunately for the counterfeiters they used to make the die a coin of the date of 1861, the first year of the war, and the possession of this coin by the elated storekeepers, who advertised the fact, led to a comparison between the genuine and base coins.

Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Concerning Certain Relics of the Past—Dogs that have had their Day.

George Stephenson's "Rocket," and the magnificent locomotives of to-day, are built upon the same general principle, yet the machine with which the great engineer astonished his age, is interesting now only as an illustration of the beginning of the invention. There were plasters with holes in them long before BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER surprised both the public and the physicians; and the triumph of the Capcine is founded upon the partial successes, or the utter failures of its predecessors. Everything of value in the old porous plaster is retained in the Capcine, but at this point all comparison ends, and contrast begins. For example

The old plasters were slow in their action, the Capcine is quick and sure.

The old plasters lacked the power to do more than to impart slight, temporary relief in cases easy of treatment, the Capcine penetrates the system and permanently cures the troubles for which it is recommended.

The old plasters depended for any good results they might attain, upon an accident of their makers and the naked faith of their wearers, the Benson's reaches its ends by means of the scientific combination of the rare medicinal ingredients which it contains.

In brief, the old plasters, like Stephenson's discarded engine, are switched off the track, while the Benson's goes on its way winning golden opinions from all sorts of people.

Yet in this very fact lies the leading danger to the people who buy and use this reliable and scientific remedy. "Hypocrisy is the tribute vice pays to virtue. Imitation is the concession failure makes to success. Benson's Plasters are parodied in name and style.

Beware of swindles. The genuine have the word CAPCINE cut in the centre. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy three years old was taken ill with croup, it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St. New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal Minn., March 13 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia Miss. April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine Texas April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

A Good Odd Fellow.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.—How He takes Life Easy now and how he obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinnipiac Lodge No 1 (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn). He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged a too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a household medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY

Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. WHEAT BITTERS

THE BEST AND The Richest BLOOD, BRAIN and NERVE -F-O-O-D-

CAREFULLY PREPARED, THOROUGHLY TESTED, ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.

The Phosphates of the Wheat are its most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.

The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to save sickness it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.

Wheat Bitters are prepared not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These make in themselves a base, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot.

The undersigned, administrator of the estate of Eliza F McCobb, late of Passadumkeag, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay her just debts and charges of administration.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him power to sell by license at public or private sale, and convey the whole of the following described real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the husband's dower therein) as the residue would be greatly depreciated by a sale of any portion, viz

All of the real estate of which said Eliza F McCobb died seized and possessed including her late homestead, situate in said Passadumkeag, containing ninety nine acres, more or less, and being the same premises described in two deeds to the said Eliza, to wit One from William H and Walter F Severance, dated April 25, 1870, recorded in the Registry of Deeds for Penobscot County, Vol 399, page 50, and the other from John W. Doonis dated May 9, 1870, and recorded in said Registry in Vol. 399, page 51, to which deeds and the record thereof reference is made for a description of the premises, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale and charges of administration.

Said real estate is the same described in deeds recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said County, Vol 399, pages 50 and 51.
